Yuletide Play To Be Staged During Convo

Wartburg Players' Christmas production, "Why the Chimes Ring," will be presented during convocation, Thursday, Dec. 11, in the Little Theater. Directing the play are Norma Jean and Gary Wiebke, both seniors.

The play is a unique presentation of the significance of a gift built not just on love and sacrifice—but on pompous show.

Key Terms Are Pride

Holger, a peasant boy, is chided by his younger brother and their mother for asking a cold, starving beggar money. The mother insists appearances are more important than charity. Holger's carrying will soon change the pompous attitude of the chimes that is expected to happen when Holger, the peasant, rings the chimes.

But the Christ-child does not pass by the boy; the miracle is revealed to him. Our Christmas gifts are not given to the least of these our brothers, we have done it unto me."

41 Weary Student-Teachers Near Close Of Nine-Week Stint As Dual Personalities

By Bob Snyder

It's the most practical three hours I've taken at college!

That's how Dale Sackett, one of 41 students who will wind up student-teaching stints next week, described his experience in tutoring speech at Waverly high school.

Under the direction of Dr. Martin Wartburgers and Miss Stella Austerud of the education department, these 41 seniors have been doing the dual role of student and pedagogue for nine weeks.

Most of them have been pleased with the chance to practice what, in last, the "do's" and "don'ts" they've picked up during four after hour at-home sessions with textbooks.

Shortcomings Show Up

Such feelings were echoed by Eldon Heisterber, who taught industrial arts at Waverly high. "It really makes you aware of your shortcomings as a professional," said Eldo.

Since Oct. 13, Wartburgers have been instructing pupils in high school in Waverly, Cedar Falls-Lincoln, Irving St. Paul's and the high schools in Waterloo, Cedar Rapids, Hudson, Janesville, Plainfield, Readlyn, Shell Rock and Clarksville.

New to the program this year is a system whereby college faculty members and the education department in directing the teaching of subjects which are related to their departments.

Program Not Perfect

While most of the prospective teachers are well satisfied with the chance to gain practical experience, some readily point out minor deficiencies in the program.

Neal Winkler, while pursuing pupil critique sheets he gave out this week to his fifth grade class at Irving school, remarked, "The big difficulty is that one doesn't have time to do an adequate job in presenting the material he has to deal with in his subject."

Ginny Winkler, who taught vocal music at Waverly high, indicated another fault:

"I wasn't able to apply my own theories or methods," said Ginny, "because I couldn't destroy or disrupt the work of the regular teacher."

Miss Austerud, one of the general supervisors of the program, expressed satisfaction with the way the student teachers have conducted themselves. "The students have helped—they did all they could to aid the students. We're fortunate to have such a fine group directing our future teachers."

"The accreditation is the biggest thing that has ever happened to the music department. It's the achievement of the goal we've been working for during the past six years."

This speaks Dr. Edwin Lemuel Behnke, head of the division of fine arts here, when announcing accreditation of Wartburg's music department by the National Association of Schools of Music, one of five accrediting agencies in the nation which are recognized by the U. S. department of education.

Announcement of the accreditation was made at a meeting of the NASM in Chicago Nov. 28. NASM is the only national organization recognized for accreditation of music departments in colleges, universities and fullblood schools of music.

Only 6 Others In Iowa

Of the present time 311 schools of music belong to the NASM, 61 of which seven are in Iowa. Other Iowa schools are those where music departments are recognized are Iowa state teachers college, Iowa State teachers college, Central, Morningside and Simpson.

With the accreditation, Wartburg is one of 61 other Lutheran colleges which hold similar recognition. Others are Augustana, Gustavus Adolphus, St. Peter's, Concordia, Luther, Bethany, Augustana, Pacific Lutheran, Capital, Concordia and Wittenberg, Springfield, Ohio.

Degrees Honored Nationally

NASM membership also brings recognition of degrees which for gross awarded here—bachelor of arts with emphasis on music and bachelor of arts with emphasis on music education. Music Education degree teaches acceptance of music graduates at Wartburg by colleges or university in the nation.

Students enrolled in courses leading to music degrees number 28 at the present time, as compared to only 6 in 1946. Of these 28, 19 are enrolled in the BFAE degree which is the equivalent to BA. degree with a music major. Wartburg students in music organizations or studying in various fields of music number 206.

Student Welfare Committee Necessary!

In the past few weeks there has been a great deal of attention centered on the activities of the student welfare committee. Although some students know of the existence of this group and what it's been doing, few know exactly what it is and what its functions are.

Perhaps the main reason for this confusion is because the student welfare committee was, to say the least, inactive. It was only once during the entire 1951-52 school year. However, this was not always the case.

A relatively new group on campus, the committee was formed four years ago and, for the first two years after its formation, was an extremely busy group. Set up under the guidance of the Student Senate as an outlet for student problems, the committee in the past considered such pertinent problems as off-campus housing, the Wartburg hall social room, the Den, cafeteria and bookstore.

What few realize is that the student welfare committee in itself, can solve no problems. Its function is to receive student gripes, hash them over and then pass recommendations on to another group which can take action on the question. This group may be either the activities committee, the faculty-student council or some higher authority.

As a receiving organ for student gripes, the committee has a constituency including both students and faculty-staff members. Student members are delegated by Student Senate, while faculty-staff members, with the exception of members-at-large, are those people directly concerned with the problem at hand—dorm, store and dorm proctors. Dean of Students Earnest Oppermann serves as chairman of the group.

Besides the active voting members, the committee also includes a number of ex officio representatives. Among these are Student Body President John Kelley and the managers of the various student services—Den, bookstore and cafeteria.

Cause of the recent inactivity in the welfare committee is the policy of the three student services have been questioned. With a few exceptions, this policing was carried out in a reasonable, sensible manner.

Apparently, some question has been raised as to whether the student has a right to investigate the policies of these organizations. This argument seems unsound. The mere fact that there is a committee set up to discuss problems of student welfare shows the student feel that he has a right to know how his services are being run.

The student welfare committee has become an essential part of student government and, as long as problems of student welfare exist, the present interest in the committee should not die.

POLITICAL INQUIRY

YESTERDAY'S COMING CLOSER AND CLOSER

Jet air travel is becoming more and more popular, and no wonder; leaving Europe by a steady flight without bumps or vibrations, travel also gives you a chance to sip a fine cocktail tea in London, then by New York at 8:30 to eat a steak dinner. In fact, after a few more years, we might even be able to catch up with yesterday.

WIDE RANGE OF POSSIBLE ANSWERS IN KOREA

Ike's trip to Korea will undoubtedly be welcomed by many individuals immediately connected with the troubleshooter. There are numerous possibilities for straighting the affairs, and what seems to be the best way for U.S. troops is a good indication that Ike will try to remedy the situation.

A bigger and more extensive war is rather a bitter pill to make the Reds accept, so a compromise seems in order. Ike could pull out the military men, or a complete shift to South Korean troops—these are some of the more probable answers from Ike's trip to Korea.

IKE FINDING POSTS FOR NATION'S TOP BRAINS

Ike has been gradually distributing jobs for the past week or two, and many big jobs will go to men in the national political stage. Choosing men of high caliber is vital to the success of any administration, and Ike for one is aware that he has been spared.

The gravy train, however, as one politician put it, " is not being served up in the Brazil pails."

EVEN EINSTEIN FULLS UP OCCASIONALLY

Albert Einstein, who recently by popular ballot is adjudged infallible, recently came up with a theory which was controversial that had to be corrected in a later publication. I wish more people would take note of that and give testimonies a slight pinch, since statements can hardly be compared to Einstein.

Senate Slants

By John Kelley

Main item of business at Senate meeting last Monday was discussion of the annual Christmas decorations contest. After much debate, it was decided that Senate would again handle the mechanics of the contest. Appointed general chairman of the affair was Sedalia Blake, sophomore, who will work out details.

Last-minute planning was completed for a Senate-sponsored radio broadcast on KXEL Dec. 6 at 7:15 p.m. A committee of four Senators, headed by Don Mattlins, together with Dean Earnest Oppermann and Bob Snyder, will conduct the show. Subjects, a presentation of some of the recent improvements performed by Senate, the program will depict the philosophy of student government at Wartburg.

Other business included approval of points of National Students association dues and arrangements for contributing a coffee-hour for Luther students following the Wartburg-Luther basketball game Feb. 14.

Diers' Season

By Hack Olsers

Ten days more of torture and tribulation and then the Zoo closes down for a two-week vacation. What will you do during vacation? Nothing? Will you're going home to see that Thought so. We voted against doing it on campus.

Diers

Well, while all you kiddies were bores eating turkey, I was busy on campus getting the bird. Uncle Dale Seeker fixed me up with some bread his mother sent to him a few months ago and we drained a radiator or two for hot water to make instant Postum. My what a thrilling time. Tony Rogers was on at the Bremer. We took our water pitcher down and had a wine of a time.

Poma
Snow is here,
Lots of cheer
Let's have a coke.

It seems that the proctor of the dorm was gone and Thursday night I say, late Thursday night a few of the boys, boys I say, gathered in Uncle Dale's room. There was Whitey and Glenn, Waldie and Uncle Dale and poor starved me. It also seems that down the hall Rudolph and Bender were discussing the shapes of things to come.

"Hmm, hmm," said Becker as he crept down to their room on tippy toes. "Wait till they hear this!" He quietly lit up a firecracker or two. Ready to be headed back into his room.

Rudolph and Bender, after the impression on atom bomb had just hit Greenstreet, dived under the bed. After a while they crawled out and by careful calculation decided the boys in Becker's room were to blame. Carefully they wired up a miniature H-bomb. But they only succeeded in making a few dead mice.

The water crest" whispered Rudolph.

By this time the conspiracy was signed by Archie and other villainous creatures. But the eluded Rudolf and the war ceased. A truce was arranged and peace was restored as soon as Becker got out the stogies.

Pickle the Panthers!

The above paragraphs are strictly imagination, Jo. We like living in the dorm.

Ode to an Ode to an Ode

I wish that I would never have saw
That crackling morning with a jaw.
Let me forget the Den's troubles and woes;
Let me put out of mind its grumpiness.
For, remember, it's Christmas, the time of good cheer,
So off to the Den, for a bottle of coke.

Pickle the Panthers!

Well "Schoop" was up in the room reading the directory the other night. I guess he won't say if he sees an interesting book, but then, everyone else or campus bought one. I been trying to think of a good way to use Jane Devine's name in the column. I mean, it's got such good possibilities.

Pickle the Panthers!

Last time I wrote a column it got me into bed with virus pneumonia. Just think—this one may kill me. (I wish you'd stop laughing like that—dandruff, I mean. I've already caught inferiority complex from my roommate).

Tommies Insult Knights, 83-61

By Chuck Lutz

Hitting on a phenomenal 19 per cent of its shots, a swift, rangy St. Thomas outfit clouted Wartburg, 83-61, at St. Paul, Minn., last night. It was the most humiliating loss shortened by the Axmen in three seasons.

Moving cross-town to Minneapolis tonight, the Knights try again for that elusive first win. Yesterday's loss was their third in a row for Wartburg, and gave the Tommies a 3-0 slate.

St. Thomas led all the way, fast breaking to a 25-15 first quarter margin. Jerry Jones and Jerry Pfeifer did Wartburg cons close to holding the Tommies to 83 points. The Tommies, but the boss five's opening jump ball, to Pfeifer, tipped in 36-39 halfway bridge.

At the end of the half, the first half, they fairly similar the story of the game, Wartburg's 41 points throughout the third minute, the Tommies 44 points. Jones and Pfeifer's second scored 20 points each, and Jones and Pfeifer each scored 20 per cent field goals.

Bob Lee Dunks 20

Forward Bob Lee produced 20 points to lead a balanced St. Thomas attack. Lee sparkled both in double figures and to made the scoring parade.

For Wartburg the burden fell heavily on Bill Adix and Dick Bostrack, who tallied nearly three-quarters of the Knights total. Bostrack led all scorers for the evening with 22, and Adix was the only ballplayer shooting eye on the floor for Wartburg.

Adix netted 20, dropping 10 of 17 shots which Bostrack shot for five goals. Bill was held down, effectively, from the shooting lanes, Steve, 6'9" Tromble center.

Fewerdu Wal-Shakiel

John Fewerdu, a big rusty center that was the Tommies' leading scorer in the rainy, rainy, rainy, Bob Wal-Shakiel, Harry Bonifield and Ken Fewerdu, who collectively scored 31 markers against St. Lady's Tommies, who collectively scored more than Adix last night. The two starting forwards, Bonifield only 11 points from a clinging Fewerdu defense.

As a team the Knights were colder than dry martinis, shooting a hair better than one in four. At the gift line, even, the Knights made their best showing of the young season, 16 of 22.

Reinar Only Regular Rest

Reinar Dunkelberger was the only regular who totaled nearly 200 points for Wartburg last night. He got the Knights tonight as their lone returning regular, the only one who saw letterwinners on the squad. Adix, Jerry Jones, Bostrack and Bill Wagner, 6'3" 240-pound center, were all lettermen.

Wartburg tonight, Wartburg will stage a nationally-barred fight against Mike Bobrick's Tommies Wednesday in the Knights gym. Tomorrow night, Wartburg will stage a grudge battle—the Knights' annual challenge to beat them at last year, 75-66, St. Thomas alumnus Jim Pfeifer at Cedar Falls last week, 83-51.

Seven Matmen To Vie In AUU Tourney Today

Seven Knight matmen traveled with Coach Norm Johnson today to the intercollegiate AAU wrestling tournament being held at the University of Iowa at Iowa City.

Bob Hicks, junior, and Paul Kessler, sophomore, will work in the 157 lb. class. Ray Krasbon, junior, will be the lone representative at 167 lb.

Blistering 2nd Half Attack Gives St. Mary's 85-77 Win

By Gus Schumacher

Take the wonderful "one-hoss shay" Wartburg Knights, for example, at once Tuesday night, letting the Cornell Rams rack up 36 points in the final half for an 85-77 win over the Knights at Mankato.

For 29 minutes the Knights stayed in front of St. Mary's, at times by as much as 15 points, Wartburg led by 11 point. But the Rambers, rolling in 36 points, kept surviving the Knights' halftime lead, scoring 36 points in the third stanza. Pat Costello stepped in a minute later to tie St. Mary's about 56-56 on the strength of the game's most spectacular comeback again in a game filled with them. Costello's shot, which gave St. Mary's a lead for good, put the Redmen a 61-60 lead as the quarter ended.

3 Straight Over IAC Foes

The fourth quarter St. Mary's counterattack a comfortable margin, 85-77, and the Knights never quite often enough to present a serious problem. With the win, Cornell secured the rampant Redmen points, 3 straight over the Iowa Conference foes, Luther, 90-80, last Monday, Central, 68-50, last Saturday, and Wartburg, 83-61, last night.

Bill Adix scored 22 points, 15 in the first half, but his defensive mate, Wartburg center Gerald Big Bill outlaid step Skemp, St. Mary's Redmen leader, 20 points on both hook and jump shots. Wartburg's Dick Bostrack and Skemp led the Redmen's second half assault as Bostrack tallied 22 points.

Bostrack Cold

Bostrack sank 3 of 16 from the field and 4 of 7 at the gift line. Jack Bostrack, Wartburg left guard, had one of the poorest offenses against Big Bill Skemp, floor play and rebounding, however, virtually replaced his weak scoring output.

The Knights total of 63 set a new Knights—against—St. Mary's—Cornell record. The previous high was in 1950 when Wartburg routed Beaux, 68-50.

Wartburg dropped its pre-Thanksgiving secret to the Iowa Road Kings, 80-76. Nov. 24, Bill Adix and Dick Bostrack, 19 and 18 points respectively, led the Knights to victory.

Center Bill Adix seems to be laying the law in the layup attempt during the St. Mary's game Tuesday night. Bill sank 22, but the Knights felled, 85-77.

Bose Hits 49—Barons Cop 2

By Ev Rieschke

Hot-shot Stanley Bose, member of last year's "B" squad, meshed 19 points in the final quarter for 27 of them against a disorganized Trifler Court quintet, to lead the Barons to two consecutive victories in the American Legion Tourney.

Winning twice, the Old Timers moved into Sunday's finals over other National Legion teams. The Nationals had earlier defeated the Five games. Bill Bonnett, Barons forward, to 22 counters. Bonett, a senior, Thursday to wind up as the highest scorer in the 12, this week.

Scott Hall's Americans also defeated twice to maintain a one-game AU margin, over the Barons and the Legionnaires.

4 Gridders Chosen To Loop 2nd Team

Four Wartburg gridders were named to the mythical all-North division, Iowa Conference second team, as released recently by the Iowa Conference Jerry Knight, end, Wendy Hendricks and tackle Norb Woods, were the only Knights gridiron second team choices and barely missed the first team.

Other Wartburgers honored were Fred Pittsford at quarterback and Ross Moeller at tackle.

Buena Vista, conference champion and loser to Wartburg in an upset, and Luther dominated the first team, placing five men each on the team. Coach Ralph Van Ostrand first team choice, center, John Beaumont, Luther, was the sole unanimous selection on the team.

Glance Through Back Shows Past Hoopsters Hold Durable Mark

Had you been a student at Wartburg a dozen or so years ago, you would have been attending ball games and yelling yourself hoarse for practically nothing—and I do mean nothing! Calling Knight teams of the early 1940's mediocre would be grossly flattering them. They were nothing shy of depicable—in marked contrast to the last few years.

Before the hardcourt seasons of 1940, '41 and '42, experts took quick exception to these cage teams and predicted them for last-place finishes. The experts didn't have to believe their crystal balls because Orange and Black hoopmen did wind up last in each of those three campaigns.

The miracle Knights of '40, '41 and '42 weren't satisfied with merely occupying the conference basement. No, they wanted unprotested custody of the dank dungeon. Why share it with anybody else? they thought.

And so Wartburg quintets, apparently anxious to establish some sort of a dubious record, went berserk in reverse. The 1940 Knight five started the losing streak, dropping 11 straight Iowa conference tilts; the '41 squad followed suit, losing 12 league games in a row, and statisticians declared Wartburg's string of 23 successive loop losses a new record.

Victories the start of the '42 season the Knight coach—his name, for obvious reasons, I do not mention—called his cagers together, telling them that this losing business had gone far enough. But the defeatist congress was too deep rooted in the hearts, heads and backs of his hapless protegee. Playing 11 conference games in '42, the hazgard Knights came out on the sorry end 11 times. The skein of defeats had ballooned to 34.

Sec Taylor, sports editor of the Des Moines Register, suggested in his much-read column that Wartburg be completed to suspend its membership in the Iowa conference. "They too feeble for the circuit," Sec wrote.

Let's say that the Knights began the '43 season on probation. They faced the necessity of winning a few loop games to prove they were worthy of membership. In early-season league contests Wartburg tried hard to peat a win, but the efforts were fruitless as the Knights bowed to Loras, Dubuque and Luther in that order. Would conference mercy be shown?

Yes, a thirsty Wartburg finally sipped the cider of victory. On Jan. 13, 1943, Western Union met the Knights in the Waverly high gym. A season battle ensued, and, when the gun sounded, Wartburg owned a 32-29 win, its first triumph over a loop foe since Feb. 24, 1939, when Central's Dutchmen were edged out, 50-46.

And so that record string of defeats went into the book—37 successive loop contest losses. That's a mark, a record, a standard of singular durability.

Dr. Hulme Counsels TROUBLED STUDENTS

By George Hanson

Most students discover at some time during their career that college life simply isn't the picnic depicted in the movie version of the campus scene. Students like all other people have problems—that's what makes them normal. And that's where Dr. William Hulme, college chaplain, steps in.

As quite of the unusually fortunate that Eva been having dinner with Dr. Hulme in his office in Luther Hall, I was impressed by the manner in which he is more than happy to accommodate his guests who might want to come in to see him.

Voluntarily, Hulme has been at work for the year that he hasn't even had the chance to send out individual invitations to new students, so he has done in the past.

Still he says, "I can always make room for anyone who wants to see me. Even if my schedule is full on a particular day or week, I'll make special arrangements for anyone who wants to talk over pressing matters."

"Doc" Hulme

Holds Ph.D. In Counseling

Experts say it's important for everyone to discuss his difficulties problems with someone who perfectly those of an emotional nature. Under the guidance of a qualified counselor such as Dr. Hulme, who holds his Ph.D. in counseling, a person can look at his difficulties objectively and can solve them more easily.

Usually about one-fifth of the student body visits Chaplain Hulme every year. Already this term, he has come with several personal problems, besides many others who came to talk over campus situations or just to have a friendly chat.

Hulme Amiable, Talkative

Anyone who knows Dr. Hulme at all, will agree that he's amiable and easy to talk to. His program of "helping students to help themselves" has given many persons a new light in the solution of their particular difficulties.

"Feel free," stated Dr. Hulme, "to come and see me for whatever reason you may have, whether it's for an emotional problem or just to visit. If your problem is important to you, it's important to me, and I'd like to help you out.

"My new phone number is 1146—call me any time."
